Eclipse 2024—This is a commission piece for a gentleman in Florida. He has a two story open staircase where he intends to hang it. He saw a smaller version of mine on the guild website and tracked me down this spring to see if I could make a larger one for him. I used commercial solids I already had plus a lot solids I had dyed to get a large variety of colors. Unfortunately it didn't put a dent in my solid stash. I quilted it with horizontal straight lines 1/4" apart. This took the longest time as 13 feet was awkward to work with on my home sewing machine. 40" x 13'

I finally was able to finish a baby quilt for my niece's new baby boy. When putting this quilt together, I like to call upon my heritage which makes it so personal for me. Feathers for wisdom, blue for a boy and a very special note on the back for him. Pattern is Arctic Feathers by Elizabeth Hartman. Sarah Parker Yoder provided the quilting.

Laura Hoover

Made for my first grandchild, my granddaughter Frances. She was born 8 weeks early so I had to hurry up and get it finished in time for her to come home from the hospital with it. All is good. Pieced and hand-quilted by Laura Hoover

I originally made a quilt in my dad's memory but I was never happy with it. My thread choice made all the hand stitching completely invisible. This is his new memory quilt. The quilting is a good pairing for a quilt I made in memory of my mom. I think they could be called his and her quilts. (This needs to be steamed as it was scrunched in a bag during production.) 83" x 83"
